

Happy Charms

An engaging series where children can explore the world and develop their social emotional skills along with Sophia, Erick, and their cute friend Zing!

Happy Charms will allow children to develop a positive attitude towards English, through contact with everyday situations. Language is organized within a spiral-based, functional syllabus that provides constant recycling.

STRUCTURE

Happy Charms is divided into nine units, one five-page Welcome unit and eight seven-page topic-based units. Each page provides input materials for a 50-minute class.

Each unit offers a variety of activities that take students from exposure, through presentation and practice, to production. Students develop skills, practice language and vocabulary, and consolidate their understanding of the texts and social purposes.

Each of the topic-based units contains six sections:

1. The Look section introduces vocabulary with a song and a related TPR activity and then, with a comic, it provides a model for oral production through controlled language practice.
2. The Say section introduces the pronunciation focus of the unit and practices the vocabulary using a set of stickers included at the back of the book.
3. The Relate section is directly related to the corresponding informative text in the Big Book and reviews the language point.
4. The Explore section helps students with the use of numbers and counting. It also provides a model for developing pre-writing skills.
5. The Review section provides students with the opportunity to review and reinforce the language learned in the unit.
6. The Do it! section consolidates language and vocabulary from the unit through a manual activity.

A Picture Dictionary is provided at the back of the book to support students comprehension of new vocabulary.

With Happy Charms your students will learn and enjoy every single moment of your class!
